The purpose of Fulbright grants is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the U.S. and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge, and skills. Awards are generally given for study or research abroad for one academic year, though some travel grants are also offered. More than 140 countries participate in the program. The U.S. Student Program is designed to give recent B.S./B.A. graduates and young professionals and artists, opportunities for personal development and international experience. Most grantees plan their own programs. Projects may include university coursework, independent library or field research, classes in a music conservatory or art school, special projects in the social or life sciences, or a combination. The vast majority of awards are for study/research, but opportunities are also available to teach English, usually in secondary schools, in certain Asian, European, and South American countries.

Eligibility Requirements are as follows:

- U.S. Citizenship
- Bachelor's degree obtained before date of grant
- Nomination by Mount Holyoke College
