

The German Studies Department at Mount Holyoke

Presents

The Question of
'German' Cultural Identity in the 21st Century:

"Herta Müller and the 2009 Nobel Prize for Literature"

November 17th, 2009

4:15 p.m.

Gamble Auditorium

MHC Art Museum

Anca Luca Holden, Visiting Lecturer in German Studies at Mount Holyoke and Smith Colleges, is currently completing her dissertation on the works of Romanian-born German authors Herta Müller, recent recipient of the Nobel Prize for Literature, and Richard Wagner, and their impact on the reconceptualization of "German" cultural identity in the 21st century.

Refreshments will be provided