McCulloch Center for Global Initiatives anchors Mount Holyoke’s comprehensive approach to global education.

- It complements the existing curricular offerings on international and global issues with cross-divisional programs that engage the whole community (through the Global scholar in residence and the Global Challenges Conferences).

- It offers students opportunities for study abroad, international internships, and research abroad (through services and programming that maximize the educational benefits of learning abroad).

- It provides international students with a solid foundation for succeeding at MHC (through advising and support services).

- It enhances and highlights faculty engagement with global issues (through faculty exchanges with institutions abroad and the MHC Global Research Series).

Global Scholar 2009

Asma Jahangir, internationally renowned human rights lawyer and activist from Pakistan
October 19-23, 2009

The Global Scholar-in Residence engages the entire MHC community in dialogue on important global issues.

Learning abroad offers a powerful personal and intellectual experience. Check out your options:

⇒ Semester, year, or J-term study abroad
⇒ International Internships or research abroad in the summer
⇒ Language immersion in the summer

Learning from and about each other leads to appreciation of other cultures and points of view and to greater self-understanding.

⇒ Leave your comfort zone and seek out students from other backgrounds!

Global Challenges Conference
A biennial conference focusing on a critical global issue

“Crossing Borders: Migration, Transnationalism, and Citizenship”

March 5-6, 2010

Visit us in 102 Porter Hall or on the web at www.mtholyoke.edu/global to learn more.